

THE NIPPON FOUNDATION PROFESSOR DELIVERS THE COURSE ON LAW OF TREATIES

Professor Malgosia Fitzmaurice, The Nippon Foundation Professor on Marine Environmental Law, delivered the course on ‘The Law of Treaties’ to the IMLI Class 2013/2014. The course is a core topic within the subject of Public International Law. She discussed in detail the treaties as a source of public international law; the concept of a treaty in international law; the means to express consent to be bound by a treaty; and issues on interpretation of treaties.

As a world expert in the field, Professor Fitzmaurice’s method of teaching enabled the students to easily understand a difficult subject. They greatly benefited from her expertise and were very much appreciative of the practical examples with which she enriched her lectures. The students now look forward to her lectures on Marine Environmental Law.

Professor Malgosia Fitzmaurice delivering her lecture on the Law of Treaties to the students of the Class of 2013/2014

Professor Malgosia Fitzmaurice holds the Chair of Public International Law at Queen Mary, University of London, where she also teaches public international law at both undergraduate and postgraduate level. Her main interests and specialties include the law of treaties, jurisprudence of the world court, and international environmental law.

Professor Fitzmaurice was appointed in 2011 as The Nippon Foundation Professor of Marine Environmental Law at IMLI. She is one of the main editors of The IMLI Manual on International Maritime Law, the first Volume of which will be published by Oxford University Press in 2014.

Professor Fitzmaurice also serves as Editor-in-Chief on a variety of international law books, namely the International Community Law Review and Queen Mary Studies in International Law. She has widely published on international law, environmental law and law of treaties. She is committed to delivering lectures and seminars on both subjects.

 If you do not want to receive IMLI e-News in future, please return this message to the above address with request to DELETE in the subject field.*

 For further information please contact Ms. Ramat Jalloh (Editor, IMLI e-News) at publications@imli.org*