

IMLI'S 26th ANNUAL LL.M PROGRAMME TO COMMENCE ON 13 OCTOBER

The IMO International Maritime Law Institute (IMLI), established under the auspices of the International Maritime Organization (IMO), is opening its doors to a new generation of students. On Monday 13 October 2014, thirty-three lawyers from twenty-seven countries will enrol in the Institute's 26th annual Master of Laws (LL.M) programme in International Maritime Law.

Entrance to the IMO International Maritime Law Institute (IMLI)

Over the past 25 years, IMLI has trained nearly 700 students hailing from over 130 countries, who together form a unique global network serving the rule of international maritime law. It is expected that the students of this academic year will also, upon completion of their studies, provide immediate and valuable contributions to their respective countries and the international community.

Professor David Attard (Director of IMLI), the Faculty and Staff would like to welcome the new students at the Institute and wish them all the best in their academic endeavours.

Below is the list of students and their respective countries for the academic year 2014/2015.
