During the visit, Mr. Lim and Professor Attard discussed the forthcoming academic year which will commence on 17 October 2016. Mr. Lim noted with satisfaction the record number of students enrolled in the Institute's programmes for the academic year 2016-2017 and stated that the true spirit of an IMLI student is thirst for knowledge and humbleness in the performance of duties which serve the home country and the international community. Mr. Lim praised IMLI for instilling a positive attitude in its students, whose training is aimed to enhance capacity-building.

Professor Attard thanked Mr. Lim for visiting the Institute, despite his very busy schedule, and expressed his gratitude to the Secretary-General and his Organization for enabling the training of maritime professionals at IMLI through the remarkable work of the IMO Technical Co-operation Division.
