THE IMLI AND IFLOS SUMMER ACADEMY COLLABORATION CONTINUES

The Institute is proud to record the continuation of the strong collaboration between IMLI and the IFLOS Summer Academy. Six IMLI graduates are currently attending the 13th IFLOS Summer Academy ‘Promoting Ocean Governance and Peaceful Settlement of Disputes’ in Hamburg. Mr. Naïf Isa Mohamed Al-Shaikh (Bahrain), Ms. Mariam Mgeladze (Georgia), Ms. Kamyla Alejandra Barrientos Pineda (Guatemala), Ms. Mialisoa Iarivola Rakouth (Madagascar), Ms. Maja Radunovic (Montenegro), and Ms. Alaa Mohamed Abdalla Hamza (the Sudan), joined the Academy on 21 July for a four-week course devoted to matters relating to both international law of the sea and maritime law.

During their studies, these graduates, together with the other admitted students, will attend lectures delivered by Judges of the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea, professors, practitioners and professionals of the law of the sea and maritime fields. As it is tradition, Professor David Attard (Director, IMLI) and Professor Norman Martinez (Professor of International Maritime Law, IMLI) delivered lectures to the newly admitted class on law of the sea issues. The lectures were very well received and the IMLI graduates were particularly happy to meet again with Professor Attard and Professor Martinez.

The collaboration between IMLI and IFLOS, which was formalized in April 2013 through the signing of a Partnership Agreement, has been very fruitful. Since its inception in 2007, 48 IMLI graduates have participated in the Summer Academy.
