IMLI'S 31ST ACADEMIC YEAR TO COMMENCE NEXT MONDAY

On Monday, 30 September 2019 the IMO International Maritime Law Institute (IMLI) will open its doors to welcome the 31st generation of lawyers and maritime professionals. The academic year 2019-2020 will witness a record number of 58 students from 31 countries attending its various programmes. Belarus and Sao Tome and Principe are being represented for the very first time in its Master of Laws (LL.M.) programme in International Maritime Law. Two students of the Master of Philosophy (M.Phil.) programme in International Maritime Law and Ocean Policy, which is delivered jointly with the World Maritime University, will attend for the first time the programme in Malta.

In providing quality training to government officials and practitioners from all over the world, especially developing countries, IMLI is committed to benefit the global maritime community through its active capacity building role in the field of international maritime law. Indeed, this years' class will join an elite of over 1,000 institute trained professionals from 146 countries and territories.

The Director, the faculty and staff of the Institute would like to warmly welcome the IMLI Class of 2019-2020 to the Institute and wish them a successful academic year.
