IMLI COMMENCES ITS 31ST ACADEMIC YEAR

The IMO International Maritime Law Institute (IMLI) welcomed its 31st generation of students for the 2019-2020 academic year on 30 September 2019.

Professor David Attard (Director, IMLI) meeting the IMLI Class of 2019-2020

Addressing the new students, Professor Attard said that it was an honour and privilege to welcome such a diverse class from all over the world to IMLI's 31st academic year. He noted that studying at IMLI is not only an academic experience but also it will enhance students' professional capabilities to enable them, upon their return, to give the best to their countries in terms of knowledge of law and professional techniques.

Professor Attard explained that IMLI's uniqueness is reflected, among other things, in its unique syllabi which consider maritime law from an international perspective, as well as the cultural and legal diversity of its students. He encouraged the students to embrace this rare opportunity for both learning and networking during the course of their studies and beyond. He advised them to adopt a culture of tolerance and respect for one another's views.

The IMLI Class of 2019-2020 taking the Oath of Allegiance

Professor Norman Martínez Gutiérrez (Professor, IMLI) administered the Oath of Allegiance.

IMLI was established by the International Maritime Organisation (IMO) in 1988 for the sole purpose of training government officials and practitioners from developing countries which were severely lacking the requisite expertise in the incorporation and effective implementation of IMO treaties, codes and guidelines. Over 30 years, the Institute has exceeded the expectations of its founders and continues to serve, with excellence, the rule of international maritime law through education and training.
