

LJUBLJANA PROFESSOR OF COMMERCIAL, TRANSPORT AND INSURANCE LAW LECTURES AT IMLI

Professor Dr. Marko Pavliha, Professor of Commercial, Transport and Insurance Law at the University of Ljubljana, Faculty of Maritime Studies and Transportation, Former Minister of Transportation and Deputy Speaker of the Republic of Slovenia delivered recently a series of lectures on the Law of Marine Insurance to the IMLI class of 2009/2010. Professor Pavliha's lectures constitute the core part of the course on the Law of Marine Insurance, one of the fundamental parts of the Shipping Law curriculum of IMLI's LL.M. programme. The purpose of his lectures is to give the students an overview of marine insurance, its history, functioning of insurance markets and basic understanding of the main principles and concepts of marine insurance law, including also some basic analysis of the broadly used standard clauses of marine hull and machinery insurance and cargo insurance.

His lectures were welcomed with enthusiasm by the students who expressed their appreciation for making this course a valuable experience.

Professor Pavliha is a member of IMLI's Governing Board and a long standing friend of the Institute. Indeed, this is the eleventh year that Professor Pavliha visits the Institute to deliver lectures on the Law of Marine Insurance. He stated that is always a joy to share knowledge with IMLI students and that he looks forward to meet the next generation.
