

SENIOR INDIAN MARITIME DELEGATION VISITS IMLI

Members of the Indian Delegation, headed by Mr. N. K. Raghupathy (Chairman, Tuticorin Port Trust) and His Excellency the High Commissioner of India to Malta, Mr. D. P. Srivastava, with members of IMLI Class 2006-2007

On the initiative of His Excellency the High Commissioner of India to Malta Mr. D.P. Srivastava, a senior Indian Maritime Delegation visited IMLI. It was composed of Mr. N.K. Raghupathy (Chairman, Tuticorin Port Trust), Mr. P.C. Dhiman (Joint Secretary, Port Development, Department of Shipping), Mr. S.S. Ranganekar (Director [Liner & Passenger Services], The Shipping Corporation of India Limited), Captain V. Baijal (Deputy Nautical Advisor, Directorate General of Shipping), and Mr. Ravindra R. (First Secretary [Commercial], Embassy of India in Tripoli). The Delegation was also accompanied by His Excellency the High Commissioner. Throughout their stay they had discussions with the Director, Professor David J. Attard and other members of staff.

The Delegation is actively pursuing the establishment of an all India Maritime University. They are particularly interested in the courses that are held at IMLI.

Proposals for future cooperation were examined and special consideration was given to the development of online courses in international maritime law designed for a global audience.

The Delegation invited Professor Attard to visit India for future discussions. It was agreed that two lawyers from India would be sent in the forthcoming academic year.
