OVER 30 YEARS SERVING THE RULE OF INTERNATIONAL MARITIME LAW

The poster features a photograph of a large, modern conference room with a curved wooden wall and large windows. People are seated at long tables arranged in a semi-circle, facing a stage area. A teal banner in the top right corner reads 'ONLINE COURSE'. The bottom half of the poster is a solid teal color with white text and a logo of a scale of justice above an anchor, flanked by laurel branches.

This Course is intended to provide a comprehensive introduction to, and an analysis of, different international maritime dispute settlement mechanisms. The Course discusses the development of specific maritime dispute settlement procedures within UNCLOS, and addresses the interaction between these mechanisms, answers the questions on whether there is a fragmentation or cross-fertilisation of international courts and tribunals, and whether the doctrine of stare decisis has a place in international law. It will look into the role of the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea (ITLOS) in the peaceful settlement of maritime disputes and the substantial jurisprudence the Tribunal has developed in the field. The Course brings together world experts in the field who will provide practical perspectives and experiences.

This Course would be of immense benefit to government officers who are responsible for advising or representing their Governments in the peaceful settlement of maritime disputes. The Course is also suitable for government officers who are engaged in the drafting, review and negotiations of maritime agreements, particularly those relating to boundaries and diplomats.

At the end of the Course, a certificate of participation will be issued.

For more information, please see the attached document. Those wishing to participate shall contact Ms. Elda Kazara-Belja at admissions@imli.org for the relevant application form. The deadline for registration in the Course is set on 2 April 2021.
