ITLOS JUDGES CONTINUE TO ADDRESS THE IMLI COURSE ON THE PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF MARITIME DISPUTES AND DELIMITATION OF MARITIME BOUNDARIES

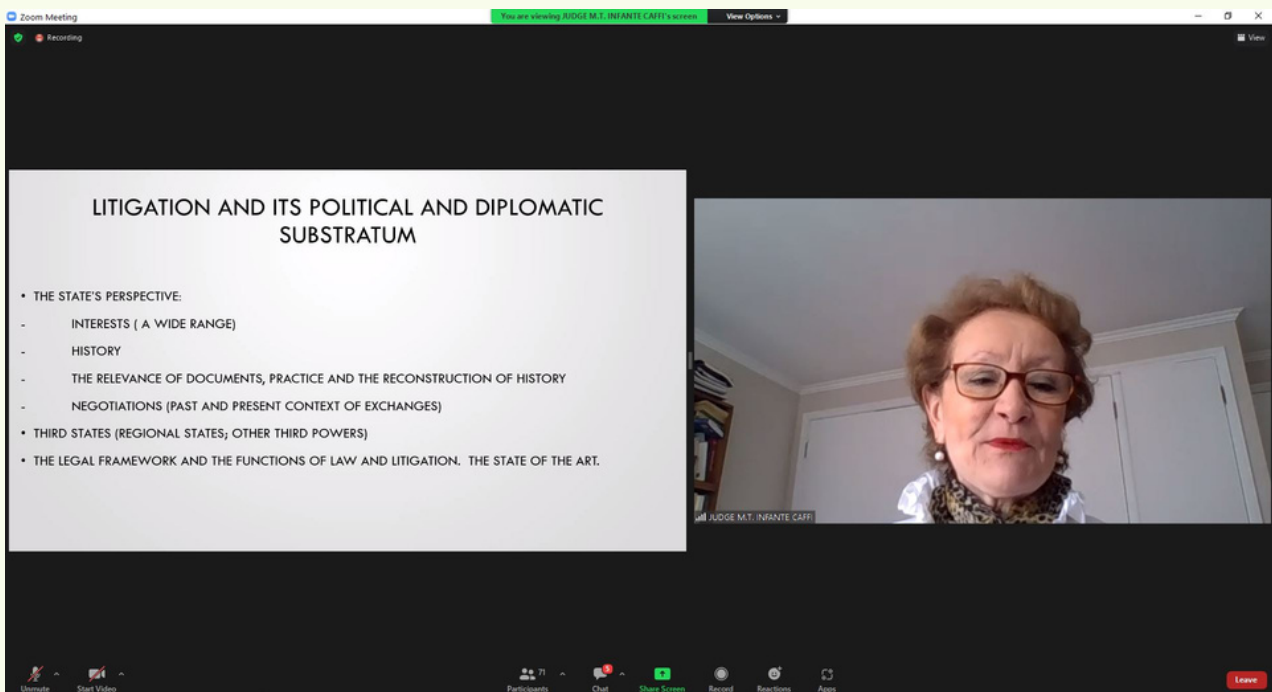

The Institute is proud to report that several sitting Judges from the International Tribunal for the Law of the Seas (ITLOS) continue to address the IMLI Course on the Peaceful Settlement of Maritime Disputes and Delimitation of Maritime Boundaries. The Institute had the pleasure of welcoming Judge Ida Caracciolo who delivered a lecture entitled "Management of The Case: Identification of Legal Advisors, Creation of Legal Team, Coordination of the Team, Appointment of Agents". Judge Caracciolo was welcomed by Professor David Attard (Director, IMLI) who noted that she is a member of several prestigious bodies and is active in academic writings with numerous impressive publications in her name.

The Institute also welcomed Judge María Teresa Infante Caffi who delivered a lecture entitled "Presenting Before International Courts and Tribunals: A Practitioner's Perspective". In his introduction, Professor Attard noted that Judge Infante has held a number of distinguished positions, including the Presidency of the Chilean Society of International Law.

A judge ad hoc is a judge ...

- ... appointed by a special procedure
- ... for a specific case
- ... by a party to the case not having a judge of its nationality on the bench

"A judge ad hoc is a judge specifically appointed for a particular case by a state or an entity (...) which does not have a member of its nationality sitting on the bench of the Tribunal."

MARITIME LIMITS AND BOUNDARIES: DELIMITATION WORKSHOP

Mr. Robert van de Poll (Global Director Law of the Sea, Fugro) and Mr. Pieter Bekker (Partner, CMS Cameron McKenna Nabarro Olswang LLP) delivered a two-day workshop on maritime limits and boundaries. They addressed the particularities of maritime delimitation from a practical perspective. Together with the IMLI Class of 2021-2022, an appreciable number of persons representing their governments in judicial and arbitral fora, in government departments involved in the drafting, review, and negotiations of boundary agreements or provisional arrangements, and private practitioners who handle such maritime claims, attended the Workshop. The Workshop was for the most time moderated by Professor David Attard (Director, IMLI).

PROFESSOR NORMAN MARTINEZ ADDRESSES THE FIFTH ADRIATIC MARITIME CONFERENCE

Professor Norman Martinez (Professor, IMLI) delivered a presentation to the Fifth Adriatic Maritime Conference on "Maritime Transport of Passengers: Liability Regime". In his engaging presentation, Professor Martinez discussed the current international and European regulatory framework and the interplay between them.

Professor Martinez argued that, despite the apparent advantages brought up by the international and EU instruments, large areas of passenger law and law relevant to the cruise industry remain to be covered by national consumer laws, hence, States are encouraged to embed the principles discussed in the presentation into their national framework regulating sea passengers' rights.
