Dear all,

I trust this email finds you well.

I am pleased to inform you that the Melita Foundation, with one of its key pillars, that of protecting and preserving our natural environment, will offer three scholarships to deserving Maltese candidates to participate in the IMLI Course on the Protection of the Marine Environment and Ocean Governance.

This unique IMLI Course will provide participants with insights into the existing regulatory framework, especially the one developed by the International Maritime Organization, for the protection of the marine environment and how the international community's efforts are intrinsically linked with the goal of sustainability and sound ocean governance. In promoting an all-encompassing approach to ocean governance which places the protection of the marine environment at the centre, the IMLI Course contributes to the nurturing of the future maritime leaders who will shape national policies and legislation which contribute to the realization of the objectives of the Organization.

I have attached a brochure which shall provide more information on the cooperation between our two institutions and the relevant application form.

Best wishes,

Ms. Elda Kazara-Belja

The Melita Foundation Scholarships

The Melita Foundation and the IMO International Maritime Law Institute (IMLI) are pleased to announce the provision of three scholarships by the Melita Foundation to deserving Maltese candidates to participate in the IMLI Course on the Protection of the Marine Environment and Ocean Governance. The scholarships are provided in line with one of the key pillars of the Melita Foundation, that of protecting and preserving our natural environment.

IMLI recognizes that the achievement of the goal of sustainability of the oceans and their invaluable resources requires concerted efforts by all States at national, regional and global level. For this purpose, to avoid a piecemeal approach to addressing the threats the oceans and their resources are facing, policies and legislation must ensure a sound governance framework which promotes the ecosystem approach and demands urgent action.

The IMLI Course looks thus at ocean governance issues with the view to promote a harmonized and integrated approach to their sustainability. In doing so, the protection of the marine environment is placed at the centre of the debate. The international regulatory framework and its interrelation with other maritime activities are being constantly assessed so that the maritime industry plays its role in the prevention of marine pollution as well as cooperation, response and compensation in case of maritime accidents.

Drawing from the experience of international experts in the field, the participants will be informed of the requirements stipulated in international and regional instruments and how these requirements shall be complied with by States in their capacity as Coastal, Flag and Port States. By participating in the Course, these participants will be in a position to advocate for adequate implementation by their countries of the numerous rules and prescriptions governing the protection of the marine environment while promoting global ocean governance.

The IMLI Course is addressed to any person involved in the drafting of national maritime policies and legislation, the implementation of the same, as well as other professionals whose working activities are related to the oceans and their resources. Priority will be given to IMLI, Faculty of Laws, and MEDAC graduates.

To apply, please contact the course coordinator by not later than 21 February 2022: academiccoordinator@imli.org
