Prior to Professor Martínez's introduction of Mr. Yamada, a video entitled "Behind the scenes: the making of IMO meetings" was shown to the class at his request. At the conclusion of the video, Professor Martínez thanked Mr. Yamada for sharing it with the students, which he described as truly fascinating. He noted further the importance of IMLI students learning the practical aspects behind the scenes which, without such a lecture from the Director of the Division and videos, may otherwise be lost to them. Professor Martínez warmly welcomed Mr. Yamada to deliver his lecture.

In his introduction, Professor Martínez informed the students that Dr. Lost-Sieminska has had a brilliant and long career in maritime law where she has occupied both academic and professional positions within her government. He further informed that since 2011, Dr. Lost-Sieminska has been working at IMO and has since 2017 been occupying her current position. He noted that Dr. Lost-Sieminska has served the maritime community well, even before coming to the IMO. Professor Martínez expressed with pleasure that Dr. Lost-Sieminska is certainly a pride and joy to IMLI and a prime example of what IMLI graduates can achieve. He concluded by stating "we are very proud of her".

Dr. Lost-Sieminska thanked Professor Martínez for his warm welcome and introduction and expressed her pleasure at being invited to lecture at IMLI once again. She also registered her regret to the students that she is not in person in Malta to see them but is also quite happy to connect with them virtually.

The students were very much appreciative of her lectures.
