IMLI COURSE ON PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF MARITIME DISPUTES AND DELIMITATION OF MARITIME BOUNDARIES

The Institute is pleased to inform its esteemed readers that its annual Course on peaceful Settlement of Maritime Disputes and Delimitation of Maritime Boundaries will commence on 4 May 2026.

The Course has been widely praised for providing a comprehensive introduction to, and an analysis of, the different international maritime dispute settlement mechanisms, the boundary-making process and the alternatives available to States, including any provisional arrangements. Participants have particularly appreciated the discussions on the development of specific maritime dispute settlement procedures within the framework of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, the role of international courts and tribunals in the peaceful settlement of maritime disputes, and the substantial jurisprudence these bodies have developed in the field.

The Institute is proud to record that Judge Tomas Heidar (President, ITLOS) will inaugurate this Course which forms part of the Institute's ongoing capacity-building initiatives.

The Course will be delivered in a hybrid mode, thus external participants may attend either online or in-situ. Candidates who attend at least 80 per cent of the lectures will be eligible for a Certificate of Attendance. If you wish to be part of this unique journey of learning, exchanging experiences and information, and networking, apply by not later than 27 April 2026 to admissions@imli.org.
